Kiwanis Park: A Fun Place to Meet

About 30 women gathered at the September Women's Club meeting, to enjoy a delicious box lunch and learn about how Laretta Reiss came to open Small Batch Bakery in Harbor Springs.

New Member Sharon Whitefoot was introduced. Members were also able to purchase items from the Art Fair, which included miscellaneous kitchen supplies. Other items will soon be available to buy on Facebook Market Place.

After the meeting, the board held its regular monthly meeting, around a picnic table. The board hopes meetings can be held outside through the fall months.

October Meeting at Kiwanis Park Again

The next Women's Club meeting will be on Wednesday, October 14 at Kiwanis Park in Harbor Springs at noon. The speaker will be Molly Ames Baker, who owns Topo Nexus, located in Harbor Springs, which strives to connect people to places, building skill sets, mindsets and heartsets for community betterment. Molly likes to do interactive activities so tennis shoes might be a good idea.

Once again, members should plan to bring a chair and beverage, as well as a mask, which should be worn, except when eating. The same Small Batch Bakery box lunch options are available: 1) Chicken Salad; 2) Turkey Club; 3) Veggie (Caprese Salad); 4) Charcuterie Box (Cold Cuts). All boxes also include chips, fruit and dessert.

Order your box lunch, by calling Julia Kort (231-526-6984) with your selection by Thursday, Oct. 8; the cost is $20. Make your check for the box lunch payable to Women's Club and mail to: PO Box 443, Harbor Springs, MI 49740 prior to the event.

The following scholarship recipients will receive $750 each:

Courtney Davis, of Levering, at Central Michigan University
Abigail Caron, of Harbor Springs, at Ferris State University
Alexandra Odenbach, of Petoskey, at Grand Valley State University
Madelanie McShannon, of Harbor Springs, at Alma College
Tiffany Fettig, of Petoskey, at Grand Valley State University
Joseph Rizzardi, of Pellston, at Lake Superior State University
